

Fallen Pony

Music and Lyrics by Doug Carson
Copywrite 1976 2016 Aquarelle Music BMI

I am lying in a pasture looking up at you faceless silhouette that's blocking out the sun.
You rode your only pony to the ground today
Maryanne you're gonna have to get the gun.
Maryanne you're gonna have to get the gun.

White cumulous is racing cross the prairie sky
My broken leg is throbbing with your fear.
Don't walk away and leave me in this agony
Maryanne you gotta pull the trigger here.
Maryanne you gotta pull the trigger here.

I was doing real well and you loved me a lot.
Then after I fell it seems you forgot
to come back to the house you filled with your paintings and love.
When your pony was winning, you showed him around
but now that he's calling your name from the ground
You're no where to be found, Maryanne you're the one that's bleeding.

Through this age I feel the thunder from a distant herd stampeding towards the reservoir of freedom.
If only I could stand again I'd run away
Maryanne with you here I can't see them.
Maryanne with you here I can't see.

You hate to see me suffering on the darkened plain but you've turned as cold as anything could see.
Killing all the feelings that could drag you down
Maryanne why can't you set this lover free?
Maryanne why can't you set this lover free?

I was up on the stage with lights everywhere and when I stepped down you always were there keeping me close whenever those lights shown their brightest.
Your pony was winning, you showed him around
but now that he's calling your name from the ground
You're no where to be found, Maryanne you're the one that's bleeding.

Someday you're going to learn to give when giving hurts as much as dying and fallen ponies always live again.

I was doing real well and you loved me a lot.
Then after I fell it seems you forgot

to come back to the house you filled with your paintings and love.
When your pony was winning, you showed him around
but now that he's calling your name from the ground
You're no where to be found, Maryanne you're the one that's bleeding.
Maryanne you're the one.
Maryanne you're the one that's bleeding.